Course Description

Language Lessons for a Living Education 2 is a Charlotte Mason flavored approach to elementary language arts. Enjoy an engaging and effective language arts program for your elementary student. Students will move beyond pages of text and memorization to make real-world connections. This exciting new series will help guide your young learner toward mastery of reading, grammar, and vocabulary, as well as the mechanics of communication and writing. Utilizing phonics, observation, and reading comprehension through poems, stories, and real books as the foundation, your student will start writing basic sentences.

The course is a story-based approach, using Charlotte Mason ideas for the modern homeschool student with character-building themes. Each quarter has five stories, two picture studies (one of which is Bible-based), and two poems (one of which is a Psalm). Using the spelling words and the Dictionary Worksheets, the student will create their very own dictionary as they move week by week through the material. This course incorporates picture study, memorization, grammar and punctuation, spelling and vocabulary, observation and application through creating their own stories through pictures and sentences, poems, psalms, and letters. Also develops early reading skills and gently develops narration skills. Writing stamina is built up gradually. By the end of the course, students should be able to comfortably write up to three sentences at a time.

A Note from the Author

This course was written with inspiration from classic educators like Charlotte Mason and Emma Serl. It was also inspired by homeschool educators like David Marks, Angela O'Dell, and Katherine Loop and my colleagues, Craig Froman and Laura Welch. If you could put these people in a room, you would find they all have different thoughts on how to educate a child, yet they have all taught me something that has gone into this series. I have tried to take the effective principles from long ago and update them for a modern world with the hope of inspiring a new generation to communicate their faith, and the gospel, to their generation.

I am indebted to the Moms of Master Books who give us valuable feedback on how to improve our curriculum to meet their needs. We do this for them. It is our goal to come alongside them and provide the tools so they can bring up a godly generation, known by the Lord. When the days feel long, I think of the impact our work is having on homeschooled children, and my strength is renewed. Thank you for allowing us to partner with you in the education of your children.

Of course, my children have taught me, for many years, principles of education that have surprised and inspired me. I have often marveled that nine children can grow up in the same home and be so different from each other. We truly are wonderfully and fearfully made. I have learned that curriculum needs to be flexible to meet the needs of the unique individuals God has entrusted to our care. Please adjust this course to best meet the needs of your student.

May God bless and keep you, give you wisdom and strength, as you homeschool your children in the nurture and admonition of the Lord.

Blessings,

Kristen Pratt

About this Course

Children enjoy patterns. They like to have rhythms in life that they can count on. This course is set up in a pattern that students and teachers alike can rely on.

The first day of the weekly schedule is a special feature. Every other week starts with a short story. The weeks in between alternate between picture studies and reading poetry or a psalm. (Each quarter follows this pattern.) A light lesson follows.

The second and third days of the week cover writing topics such as grammar and punctuation. They are the tools put into the hands of the student to use on day four.

The fourth day of the week, students create a story, poem, or psalm. This activity is designed to give the students a regular opportunity to use the skills they have learned in a way that is personal to them.

The fifth day is when the student focuses on spelling and vocabulary, building a dictionary of words they can use in their writing.

There are patterns within the lessons themselves. Students are given a variety of activities that repeat themselves every so often. This creates familiarity without overdoing repetition.

Students' reading abilities, hand-eye coordination, and stamina vary widely at this age. We have started the course gently, gradually increasing the amounts of reading and writing. Feel free to adjust the pace according to the needs of your student. We have also given varied types of material in the back of the book to aid in the extra practice of key concepts.

There is review built into the course. You will find some topics repeated regularly. Others are repeated in the last quarter when the student will review most of the material they have learned. This is vital at this level since so many of the topics are completely new to the student. It is the perfect opportunity to shore up any areas the student needs to work on.

We hope you enjoy using this course with your student. It is designed to foster a partnership between student and teacher, with the student gradually taking a lead role. The teacher may have to read most of the instructions at the beginning of the course, only to find the student takes over by the end of the school year. Allowing the student's growing abilities, stamina, and interests to set the pace will allow the student's confidence to strengthen. This confidence is the key that will help unlock communication success.

Note: There are answers for numbered problems in the Teacher Aids Section at the back of the book. The Narration Practice pages are the only ones not included.

Teaching Helps

Stories, Poems, Psalms

The stories, poems, and psalms were designed for the teacher and student to read together. This gives reading practice and experience within the context of a short story or passage. This method fosters a partnership between the teacher and the student. It allows the teacher to see where the student excels and where the student may need extra instructions. It also gives the student a safe place to practice their developing reading skills.

The sentences we suggest for the student to read are highlighted. The number, length, and complexity of the suggested sentences are gradually increased. These serve as suggestions only. The ability and stamina of the student should guide the pace. Some students will need a slower pace, while other students may want to read more than the suggested sentences.

The student should read as much of the story, poem, or psalm as possible. The teacher should help the student sound out difficult words and gently take over the reading if the student tires or is struggling. The goal is to build reading confidence, skills, and stamina slowly, through practice. Care should be taken to stay light-hearted and encouraging. Students this age can become discouraged if reading doesn't come easily and quickly. Extra encouragement, patience, and instruction may be needed to smooth over the bumps and to keep the student engaged in the process.

If a student is struggling to read, sometimes their short-term memory needs to be developed. Reading is memory intensive. The student must remember the start of a word while sounding out the end. They also must remember what they read in the first part of the sentence as they finish reading the end of the sentence. Then they must remember the sequence of events within the story. There is a lot to remember, especially when they are concentrating on words they do not know. You can work on increasing short-term memory through memory games. You will find some in the back of the book.

The NASB is used for the Psalms and all Scripture passages (unless otherwise noted) in this book, but you may use the version you prefer.

Independent Reading

Work with the student to pick a book for them to read independently over the course of the week. Care should be taken to select a book within the student's reading ability. There is a helpful chart on page 395 of this teacher guide which you can use to keep track of the books your student reads during this course.

Depending on the reading ability of the student, the book may be read orally, with the help of the teacher. Students may also choose to read the book independently, asking for help only when they come to a word they cannot read or do not understand.

You will also find a list of suggested Master Books resources based on grade level on page 397.

Oral Narration

Oral narration (or telling back) helps a student develop listening skills and reading comprehension. These questions will help a student connect with the story and improve basic narration skills.

Oral narration is a skill that needs to be developed. Oral narration teaches the student to pay attention to the story and to think about what is happening. It fosters memory recall, which helps develop reading skills. The questions are meant to gently lead a student to the goal of being able to tell back a story on their own, with no prompts. Students will vary greatly in their ability to narrate a whole story back to the teacher. We suggest a slow approach, testing a student now and then to see if they can do it without the prompts.

Memorization

Throughout the course, there are opportunities to memorize short passages of Scripture, poems, etc. The teacher should participate with the student and memorize them too. Students this age are naturally good at memorizing, but they may need some encouragement. Modeling and working together is the best way to encourage this skill.

The students will be memorizing 1 Corinthians 13 two verses at a time. Two weeks are given to learn each set of verses. The teacher should memorize the verses with the student. The class in the story earns a prize — a Bible — once they have recited the whole passage. It would be fun and rewarding (but optional) for you to provide a small prize for your student after they have memorized all the verses.

Tell Your Story

This section allows a student to use the skills they have learned in a way that is personal to them. The questions are meant to develop ideas for their story. You may need to ask more questions to help the student remember details and to express feelings.

The story the student tells may be something that actually happened, something they want to happen, or something that is made up. If a student struggles to think of something in the context of the lesson, allow room for creativity. The important thing is for the student to communicate something personal to them, rather than sticking with the given topic.

Some students may struggle with writing a poem or a psalm. Work with the student, offering ideas. This may be a joint project where the student and teacher work together to create the poem or psalm. It should be fun and light, with a focus on creativity. Spend time discussing ideas with the student before putting them to paper.

The student can pull their stories out and put them in a binder to create a little book of their own. Students may also use the back of the page to draw or write more of their story if they wish.

Spelling and Vocabulary

Rather than seeing spelling as an isolated subject, teachers should encourage students to look for opportunities to use the words they are working on in all of their writing. We have provided various types of activities to foster experience with words as a starting point. Students should then practice their spelling skills in every subject as they write.

Some students will struggle more than others with spelling. We have provided resources in the back of the book that include:

- ✓ a list of the spelling words organized by lesson for testing, practice, and Create Your Own Dictionary!
- ✓ extra spelling activities and games

Create Your Own Dictionary!

With the teacher's help, the student will use the spelling words and the Dictionary Worksheets to create their very own dictionary.

The teacher will need to make copies of the Create Your Own Dictionary! sheets in the back of the book. They are also available for download on www.masterbooks.com/classroom-aids.

The student will write out the word, draw a picture that shows each word, and then finish with a simple definition.

This is a good opportunity to introduce a children's dictionary to the student. The teacher should demonstrate how to look up words in a dictionary and use it to complete the definitions. The student may use one word or simpler definitions rather than copy directly from the dictionary.

Most weeks have seven spelling words. If the student struggles to add all seven words to their dictionary, the teacher may let them choose fewer. Let the student's ability and stamina be the guide.

In the fourth quarter, rather than using the spelling words, students may pick their favorite words to add to their dictionary.

The student is encouraged to continue to add words to their dictionary long after they have finished the course. The teacher may offer blank Create Your Own Dictionary! pages for this purpose.

Review

The fourth quarter includes many review activities. The lesson length is longer since the student is familiar with the material. If the student does not have the stamina to complete the longer lessons, there are several options. The teacher may read the work to the student, letting the student do the written portion. The teacher may allow the student to complete some of the problems orally. The teacher may spread the work over several days, as needed. Remember, this is a student's introduction to punctuation, grammar, and writing. They may not master all of the material. Each year they will gain mastery as concepts are re-introduced and built upon.

Assessments

Two types of assessments are provided in the back of the book in the Teacher Aids section.

We have provided Quarterly Assessments for the teacher. Grades may be assigned using this format.

We have also provided Quarterly Quizzes. They are not included in the schedule. They may also be used for grading.

Unlikely Friends

When Micah and Claire first met, Micah was quiet and shy. Claire thought for sure he didn't like her. When their Sunday school teacher, Mr. Lopez, paired them up for a game, Claire did not look forward to it. Micah walked right over and said hello. She was so surprised that she almost forgot to say hello back! Before long they were busy talking about the game. Some of the other kids knew a lot about the Bible, so they needed a plan. Micah knew facts about the Bible, but Claire could shout out the answers louder than anyone else in the class.

The game soon began. Pairs of children in the class faced off. Mr. Lopez would ask a question; then the two teams would talk quietly until someone would shout out the answer. Micah and Claire were nervous as they took their turn. Micah could feel his heart beating as Mr. Lopez looked down at his list of questions. "Ready? What does Eve's name mean?" Micah knew this one, but he had to think a second. He whispered it to Claire, and she quickly shouted out, "Mother of all living!" They nervously looked at Mr. Lopez before he declared their team the winner. Claire let out a big squeal, and they both started to jump up and down. It was at that moment they each realized they had made a new friend.

A period looks like this: •

An exclamation point looks like this:

A question mark looks like this: ?
Look at this sentence from our story.

She was so surprised that she almost forgot to say hello back!

Underline the word that has a capital letter. Circle the exclamation point.

Copy this sentence.

The game soon began.

Did you remember to start the first word with a capital letter and end the sentence with a period? If not, be sure to fix it.

Fill in the first word of each sentence. You may pick from these words:

- You may need to help the student read the sentences.
- Remember that only numbered problems have answers in the back.

Optional Activity

Ask your teacher to read each spelling word. Spell the word out loud to your teacher and use it in a sentence.

Orphans in Honduras

Mr. Lopez waited for the class to settle down before asking a special missionary guest to talk to the class. Since Mrs. Clark spoke softly, the class had to listen closely as she told about a ministry for orphans in Honduras. The children were glad to learn that each orphan had a family with their own home and a mom and dad to take care of them. Mrs. Clark handed out photos of the orphans. They had sweet smiles. There were babies and toddlers. There were kids the same age as those in the class, but some were older. Some of the girls wore braids and pigtails just like Claire. Many of them wore jeans and t-shirts just like Micah. Micah studied the picture of a shy little boy about his age that looked like he was smiling behind his hands. If only Micah could meet him. He was sure they would be friends.

When class was over Micah and Claire were slow to leave. They looked at all the photos Mrs. Clark had shared. One picture showed a playground. Mrs. Clark said it was old and in need of repair. A group was coming soon to fix it. Another photo showed a strange, clay oven and a woman cooking on top of it. The children were certain she was making tortillas. That reminded them it was time for lunch! As Micah and Claire went off to find their parents, they said that someday they will visit the orphans in Honduras.

- (1) Where was the missionary guest from?
- (2) What was the missionary guest's name?
- (3) Who were in the photos the missionary passed around?

Optional Activity

Ask your teacher to read each spelling word. Spell the word out loud to your teacher and use it in a sentence.

The New Year

It was the New Year's Eve party at Micah and Claire's church. They knew it was going to be a fun night. They watched as the adults set up tables of snack food. It all looked good! Claire stood with her family, waiting for their turn to load up their plates. Micah and his family weren't too far behind them. Claire waved at Micah as they traded a big smile. The sounds of talking and laughter went up as the full plates emptied to crumbs. Many were mid-sentence when a young man called out that it was time to get started. It was time for the church talent contest!

Micah was taking piano lessons and had learned a few short songs. He asked Claire if she would sing one while he played. The two had practiced every Sunday after church. When their names were called, they made their way up front. Micah sat up tall behind the piano and stretched out his fingers. He began to press the white keys. The tune of Jesus Loves Me rang out from the piano as Claire sang. When they got to "little ones to Him belong" Micah's fingers slipped and hit the wrong key. He paused, and so did Claire. As she glanced over at him, Micah quickly found the right key, and they continued with the song. They both gave a big grin as they stood and took a bow. It had been a great way to bring in the new year!

- (1) What holiday was the story about?
- (2) How did Micah and Claire's church celebrate?
- (3) What did Micah and Claire do for the talent contest?
- (4) What did you like about the story?

Consonant Blends

We are going to work with more consonant blends. Read the consonant blends to your teacher.

ng nk nd

Think of a word that ends with each blend and say them to your teacher.

(1) Circle the sentence that best tells about the ducks in the picture.

The ducks are in a hurry.

The ducks are sad.

It is raining on the ducks.

The ducks can swim.

A - An

We use the word a before words that start with a consonant. Here is an example:

Micah played a piano.

We use the word an before words that start with a vowel. Here is an example:

Claire has an ear for music.

Write a or an correctly in the sentences.

a an

(1) Claire sang _____ song.

(2) Micah ate ____ cookie.

(3) Claire ate _____ apple.

| Write a sentence using: Q | | |
|-----------------------------------|------|------|
| | | |
| Write a sentence using: an | | |

Use "a" or "an" to name as many things from the picture as you can. Start with "___" pair of boots.

"ed," and "ing"

A suffix is letters added to the end of a word to change the meaning. We can add the suffix "ed" and "ing" to a word. Here is an example:

kick: kicked, kicking

| Add the suffixes to each | word: ed and ing | |
|--------------------------|------------------|--|
| (1) jump: | | |
| (2) add: | | |

If the word ends with a silent "e," then we drop the "e" before adding the suffix. Here is an example:

bake: baked, baking

| Add the suffix | tes to each word: ed and in | g |
|------------------|---|---|
| (3) race: | | · |
| (4) taste: | | |

When we have a word with one syllable, one short vowel, and ends with one consonant, we must double the consonant then add "ed" or "ing."

Stop has one syllable, one short vowel, and ends with one consonant. We must double the "p" before we add "ed" or "ing." Here is an example:

stop: stopped, stopping

| Add the suffixes to each word: ed and ing | |
|--|--|
| (5) rip: | |
| Remember these examples: | |
| kick : kicked, kicking bake : baked, baking stop : stopped, stopping | |
| Follow the rules you learned to add the suffixes to each word: ed and ing | |
| (6) rub: | |
| (7) bake: | |
| (8) push: | |

Tell Your Story

Do you have a special talent? Do you sing, play an instrument, or draw nice pictures? Everyone has talents. If you can't think of one, what would you like to learn to do?

Tell a story to your teacher about using a talent. It can be a story about a talent you have or one you would like to have.

Draw a picture of your story. Write two sentences on the next page about your story.

The Secret in the Box

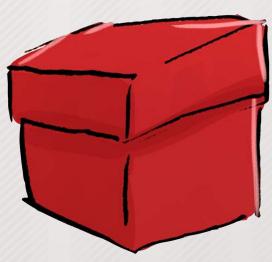

Claire had a secret! Mr. Lopez had asked each student to bring something that they were thankful for. Micah brought a boat he made out of LEGOs®. He carefully put it in a box and was excited to show the class. Micah wondered what Claire brought. She also had a box, but it was much bigger than Micah's. Claire always did things in a big way!

The children were excited and talked so loud; no one could hear Mr. Lopez trying to start the lesson. Suddenly, the class fell silent. The students looked around and listened intently. What was that sound? They had never heard anything like it in class. Even Mr. Lopez was puzzled. There it was again, a soft, "mew!" It got louder, "Meow! Meow!" The class erupted again, trying to figure out where the cat was!

Claire could no longer hide her secret. She had brought her new kitten to class! She set a box on her desk and pulled off the blanket. The cat carrier had two big eyes peering out the front. Mr. Lopez laughed as the whole class swarmed around Claire. After each child had a chance to see the kitten, Mr. Lopez reminded them that they each had something to show the class. As they took turns, they held up their item and told why they were thankful. Claire smiled big. She said she was thankful that her secret was out! They all laughed as the kitten let out a "Meow!" as if to agree.

- (1) What was the story about?
- (2) Why were the children so loud?
- (3) What made them stop talking?

The Playground

Mr. Lopez told the Sunday school class that he had mailed their letters to the children at the orphanage in Honduras. He also told the children that the church was raising money to expand the playground there. Micah remembered that it was in need of repairs, but he thought someone had done the work. Mr. Lopez explained that the playground had been fixed, but they have so many children, they need to make it larger. They hoped to have enough money to start the project by the middle of summer.

The children in the class began talking about ways they could earn money to help the orphans. Micah said his mom usually pays him to make her bed. He would also ask if there were other chores he could do. Claire said that her neighbor pays her to help take care of her animals. She would put aside the money she earned for the playground. Their classmate and friend, Ava, said her older brother sometimes paid her to do his chores when he got busy. She would ask him if he would hire her. Micah thought that was a great idea. He would ask his big sister, Alexia, if she would hire him to do some of her chores too.

As they left class, Micah thought about the chapter they had memorized. He told Claire that by helping the children in Honduras, they were putting what they learned about love into action. Claire agreed. They were both eager to get started!
