Contents

Classical Composition

Refutation and Confirmation Stages

Teaching Guidelines	4
Grading Sheets
Definition of Terms	6 11
Introduction to Refutation and Confirmation	12
Lesson 1: Paraphrase of Aphthonius' Refutation	14
Lesson 2: Paraphrase of Aphthonius' Confirmation	28
Lesson 3: Refutation of Giufà and the Judge	38
Lesson 4: Confirmation of Giufà and the Judge	50
Lesson 5: Refutation of Chico and the Crane	60
Lesson 6: Confirmation of Chico and the Crane	72
Lesson 7: Refutation of Daedalus and Icarus	82
Lesson 8: Confirmation of Daedalus and Icarus	96
Lesson 9: Refutation of Andrew Jackson and the Battle of New Orleans
Lesson 10: Confirmation of Andrew Jackson and the Battle of New Orleans
Lesson 11: Refutation of The Story of William Tell
Lesson 12: Confirmation of The Story of William Tell	142
Lesson 13: Refutation of George Washington and the Apple Tree	152
Lesson 14: Confirmation of George Washington and the Apple Tree	166
Lesson 15: Refutation of The Rose	176
Lesson 16: Confirmation of The Rose	188
Lesson 17: Refutation of Andreas Hofer	196
Lesson 18: Confirmation of Andreas Hofer	208
Appendix
Figures of Description With Examples	218
Figures of Speech With Examples	223

Contents 3

Lesson 3: Refutation of Giufà and the Judge

The Narrative

Read the narrative, noting the Narrative Components.

One day Giufà went out to gather herbs, and it was night before he returned. On his way back, the moon rose through the clouds, and Giufà sat down on a stone and watched the moon appear and disappear behind the clouds, and he exclaimed constantly, "It appears, it appears! It sets, it sets!"

Now there were near the way some thieves who were skinning a calf which they had stolen, and when they heard "It appears, it sets!" they feared that the officers of justice were coming, so they ran away and left the meat.

When Giufà saw the thieves running away, he went to see what it was and found the calf skinned. He took his knife and cut off flesh enough to fill his sack and went home. When he arrived there, his mother asked him why he came so late. He said it was because he was bringing some meat which she was to sell the next day, and the money was to be kept for him. The next day his mother sent him into the country and sold the meat.

In the evening Giufà returned and asked his mother, "Did you sell the meat?"

"Yes, I sold it to the flies on credit."

"When will they give you the money?"

"When they get it."

A week passed, and the flies brought no money, so Giufà went to the judge and said to him, "Sir, I want justice. I sold the flies meat on credit, and they have not come to pay me."

The judge said, "I pronounce this sentence on them: Wherever you see them, you may kill them." Just then a fly lighted on the judge's nose, and Giufà dealt it such a blow that he broke the judge's head.

1. Discredit

This paragraph begins the refutation by discrediting the author or the story.

1. Introduction Write a general statement of discredit about the author or the story. Write your answer: 2. Discredits Write at least three discredits about the story or the author. Write your answer 3. Thesis Write a sentence that tells what this essay is about. Include the name of the story. Write your answer Write your answer

Ro	ugh Draft
	nbine the three elements above into a paragraph. Add anemographia.
	2. Exposition
	This paragraph retells the story being refuted.
1.	Narrative
lder	ntify the Narrative Components and then form them into a narrative.
1.	Recognition:
	Reversal: Suffering:
4.
5.	Action:
6.	Time:
7.	Place:
	Manner:
9.	Cause:
	ite your answer:

2. Transition  Write a transition sentence.
Write your answer:
Write your unswer.
Rough Draft Retell the narrative to your audience using the Narrative Components, and then add the Transition. Add astrothesia.
3. Unclarity
This paragraph shows how an action in the story is unclear. To be "unclear" means the cause could not produce the effect.
One day Giufà went out to gather herbs, and it was night before he returned. On his way back the moon rose through the clouds, and Giufà sat down on a stone and watched the moon appear an disappear behind the clouds, and he exclaimed constantly, "It appears, it appears! It sets, it sets!"
Rhetorical Question
State the fact you will be disputing, then ask a rhetorical question that casts doubt on the fact.
Write your answer:
2. Statement
Tell why the fact you are disputing is unclear.
Write your answer:

3. Counter Argument
Quote an opponent's possible counter argument.
Write your answer:
4. Assessed Ossesstan Assessed
4. Answer Counter Argument
Give an answer to the counter argument.
Write your answer:
5. Answer Counter Argument
Give a second answer to the counter argument.
Write your answer:
6. Dilemma
In the form of an either/or sentence, state a dilemma based on your previous points.
Write your answer:
Rough Draft Combine the contenses. Add enemeters is Combine the sentences. Add onomatopoeia.
,

4. Implausibility

This paragraph shows how an action in the story is unlikely to have occurred.

Now there were near the way some thieves who were skinning a calf which they had stolen, and when they heard "It appears, it sets!" they feared that the officers of justice were coming, so they ran away and left the meat.

1. Transition
Ask readers to grant the previous point, and then ask a rhetorical question that casts doubt on the fact you will be disputing  Write your answer:
2. Statement
Paraphrase your previous concession and state the implausibility.
Write your answer:
3. Rhetorical Question
Paraphrase #2 with a rhetorical question that casts doubt on the implausible action.
Write your answer:
4. Counter Argument
Quote an opponent's possible counter argument.
Write your answer:
5. Answer Counter Argument
Answer the counter argument in the form of a rhetorical question.
Write your answer:
Trace your mistree.

In the form of an either/or sentence, state a dilemma based on your previous points.
Write your answer:
7. Counter Argument
Quote a second possible counter argument from an opponent.
Write your answer:
8. Dilemma
Answer the counter argument with an either/or sentence.
Write your answer:
9. Statement
Write a paraphrase of your general argument.
Write your answer:
Rough Draft
Combine the sentences. Add anemographia.

6. Dilemma

5. Impossibility

This paragraph shows how an action in the story is impossible.

When Giufà saw the thieves running away, he went to see what it was and found the calf skinned. He took his knife and cut off flesh enough to fill his sack and went home. When he arrived there, his mother asked him why he came so late. He said it was because he was bringing some meat which she was to sell the next day, and the money was to be kept for him. The next day his mother sent him into the country and sold the meat.

1. Transition
Ask readers to grant the previous point.
Write your answer:
2. Rhetorical Question
Ask a rhetorical question that casts doubt on a particular fact from the story and shows a logical contradiction.
Write your answer:
3. Statement
Answer the rhetorical question with a general statement that is a paraphrase of #2.
Write your answer:
4. Rhetorical Question
In the form of "If then" ask a general rhetorical question that is a loose paraphrase of #3.
Write your answer:
5. Statement
Flatly contradict #2-4 with particulars from the story to show that it is impossible.
Write your answer:

Syllogism (#6-9 are optional if you have not studied Logic)  Create a syllogism using one of the nouns you used in #2. Use the syllogism to complete #6-9.
major premise:
minor premise:
conclusion:
6. Rhetorical Question Ask a rhetorical question that includes the conclusion of your syllogism.
Write your answer:
7. Statement State the major or minor premise.
Write your answer:
8. Rhetorical Question Paraphrase the conclusion as a rhetorical question.
Write your answer:
9. Rhetorical Question Ask a rhetorical question that condemns the author and paraphrases the conclusion of the syllogism.  Write your answer:
Rough Draft Combine the sentences. Add onomatopoeia.

6. Inconsistency

This paragraph shows how a person in the story acts inconsistently, or unjustly.

In the evening Giufà returned and asked his mother, "Did you sell the meat?"

"Yes, I sold it to the flies on credit."

"When will they give you the money?"

"When they get it."

1. Rhetorical Question

In the form of "Why" ask a rhetorical question that points to a particular inconsistent action in the story.
Write your answer:
2. Rhetorical Question
Ask a rhetorical question in the form of "If then" that expounds on #1.
Write your answer:
3. Rhetorical Question
State a general truth, and then ask a rhetorical question that points out an inconsistency with this truth in the story.

4. Dilemma

In the form of an either/or sentence, state a dilemma based on your previous points.

Write your answer:

write your answer.

7. Impropriety  This paragraph shows how a person in the story lacks moral integrity or honor.  A week passed, and the flies brought no money, so Giufa went to the judge and said to him, "Sir, I want justice. I sold the flies meat on credit, and they have not come to pay me."  The judge said, "I pronounce this sentence on them: Wherever you see them, you may kill them."  1. Rhetorical Question In the form of "Why" ask a rhetorical question that points to a particular improper action in the story.  Write your answer:  2. Rhetorical Question State a general truth, and then ask a rhetorical question in the form of "If then" that points out an impropriety in the character in the story.  Write your answer:  Write your answer:  3. Statement  Paraphrase "2 in an "If then" statement, but reverse the order and begin with "then."	Rough Draft Combine the sentences. Add onomatopoeia.
This paragraph shows how a person in the story lacks moral integrity or honor.  A week passed, and the flies brought no money, so Giufà went to the judge and said to him, "Sir, I want justice. I sold the flies meat on credit, and they have not come to pay me."  The judge said, "I pronounce this sentence on them: Wherever you see them, you may kill them."  1. Rhetorical Question In the form of "Why" ask a rhetorical question that points to a particular improper action in the story.  Write your answer:  2. Rhetorical Question State a general truth, and then ask a rhetorical question in the form of "If then" that points out an impropriety in the character in the story.  Write your answer:  Write your answer:  3. Statement  Paraphrase "2 in an "If then" statement, but reverse the order and begin with "then."	Combine the conteness. And changepools.
This paragraph shows how a person in the story lacks moral integrity or honor.  A week passed, and the flies brought no money, so Giufà went to the judge and said to him, "Sir, I want justice. I sold the flies meat on credit, and they have not come to pay me."  The judge said, "I pronounce this sentence on them: Wherever you see them, you may kill them."  1. Rhetorical Question In the form of "Why" ask a rhetorical question that points to a particular improper action in the story.  Write your answer:  2. Rhetorical Question State a general truth, and then ask a rhetorical question in the form of "If then" that points out an impropriety in the character in the story.  Write your answer:  Write your answer:  3. Statement  Paraphrase "2 in an "If then" statement, but reverse the order and begin with "then."
This paragraph shows how a person in the story lacks moral integrity or honor.  A week passed, and the flies brought no money, so Giufà went to the judge and said to him, "Sir, I want justice. I sold the flies meat on credit, and they have not come to pay me."  The judge said, "I pronounce this sentence on them: Wherever you see them, you may kill them."  1. Rhetorical Question In the form of "Why" ask a rhetorical question that points to a particular improper action in the story.  Write your answer:  2. Rhetorical Question State a general truth, and then ask a rhetorical question in the form of "If then" that points out an impropriety in the character in the story.  Write your answer:  Write your answer:  3. Statement  Paraphrase "2 in an "If then" statement, but reverse the order and begin with "then."
This paragraph shows how a person in the story lacks moral integrity or honor.  A week passed, and the flies brought no money, so Giufà went to the judge and said to him, "Sir, I want justice. I sold the flies meat on credit, and they have not come to pay me."  The judge said, "I pronounce this sentence on them: Wherever you see them, you may kill them."  1. Rhetorical Question In the form of "Why" ask a rhetorical question that points to a particular improper action in the story.  Write your answer:  2. Rhetorical Question State a general truth, and then ask a rhetorical question in the form of "If then" that points out an impropriety in the character in the story.  Write your answer:  Write your answer:  3. Statement  Paraphrase "2 in an "If then" statement, but reverse the order and begin with "then."
This paragraph shows how a person in the story lacks moral integrity or honor.  A week passed, and the flies brought no money, so Giufà went to the judge and said to him, "Sir, I want justice. I sold the flies meat on credit, and they have not come to pay me."  The judge said, "I pronounce this sentence on them: Wherever you see them, you may kill them."  1. Rhetorical Question In the form of "Why" ask a rhetorical question that points to a particular improper action in the story.  Write your answer:  2. Rhetorical Question State a general truth, and then ask a rhetorical question in the form of "If then" that points out an impropriety in the character in the story.  Write your answer:  Write your answer:  3. Statement  Paraphrase "2 in an "If then" statement, but reverse the order and begin with "then."
This paragraph shows how a person in the story lacks moral integrity or honor.  A week passed, and the flies brought no money, so Giufà went to the judge and said to him, "Sir, I want justice. I sold the flies meat on credit, and they have not come to pay me."  The judge said, "I pronounce this sentence on them: Wherever you see them, you may kill them."  1. Rhetorical Question In the form of "Why" ask a rhetorical question that points to a particular improper action in the story.  Write your answer:  2. Rhetorical Question State a general truth, and then ask a rhetorical question in the form of "If then" that points out an impropriety in the character in the story.  Write your answer:  Write your answer:  3. Statement  Paraphrase "2 in an "If then" statement, but reverse the order and begin with "then."
This paragraph shows how a person in the story lacks moral integrity or honor.  A week passed, and the flies brought no money, so Giufà went to the judge and said to him, "Sir, I want justice. I sold the flies meat on credit, and they have not come to pay me."  The judge said, "I pronounce this sentence on them: Wherever you see them, you may kill them."  1. Rhetorical Question In the form of "Why" ask a rhetorical question that points to a particular improper action in the story.  Write your answer:  2. Rhetorical Question State a general truth, and then ask a rhetorical question in the form of "If then" that points out an impropriety in the character in the story.  Write your answer:  Write your answer:  3. Statement  Paraphrase "2 in an "If then" statement, but reverse the order and begin with "then."
This paragraph shows how a person in the story lacks moral integrity or honor.  A week passed, and the flies brought no money, so Giufà went to the judge and said to him, "Sir, I want justice. I sold the flies meat on credit, and they have not come to pay me."  The judge said, "I pronounce this sentence on them: Wherever you see them, you may kill them."  1. Rhetorical Question In the form of "Why" ask a rhetorical question that points to a particular improper action in the story.  Write your answer:  2. Rhetorical Question State a general truth, and then ask a rhetorical question in the form of "If then" that points out an impropriety in the character in the story.  Write your answer:  Write your answer:  3. Statement  Paraphrase "2 in an "If then" statement, but reverse the order and begin with "then."
This paragraph shows how a person in the story lacks moral integrity or honor.  A week passed, and the flies brought no money, so Giufà went to the judge and said to him, "Sir, I want justice. I sold the flies meat on credit, and they have not come to pay me."  The judge said, "I pronounce this sentence on them: Wherever you see them, you may kill them."  1. Rhetorical Question In the form of "Why" ask a rhetorical question that points to a particular improper action in the story.  Write your answer:  2. Rhetorical Question State a general truth, and then ask a rhetorical question in the form of "If then" that points out an impropriety in the character in the story.  Write your answer:  Write your answer:  3. Statement  Paraphrase "2 in an "If then" statement, but reverse the order and begin with "then."
This paragraph shows how a person in the story lacks moral integrity or honor.  A week passed, and the flies brought no money, so Giufà went to the judge and said to him, "Sir, I want justice. I sold the flies meat on credit, and they have not come to pay me."  The judge said, "I pronounce this sentence on them: Wherever you see them, you may kill them."  1. Rhetorical Question In the form of "Why" ask a rhetorical question that points to a particular improper action in the story.  Write your answer:  2. Rhetorical Question State a general truth, and then ask a rhetorical question in the form of "If then" that points out an impropriety in the character in the story.  Write your answer:  Write your answer:  3. Statement  Paraphrase "2 in an "If then" statement, but reverse the order and begin with "then."
This paragraph shows how a person in the story lacks moral integrity or honor.  A week passed, and the flies brought no money, so Giufà went to the judge and said to him, "Sir, I want justice. I sold the flies meat on credit, and they have not come to pay me."  The judge said, "I pronounce this sentence on them: Wherever you see them, you may kill them."  1. Rhetorical Question In the form of "Why" ask a rhetorical question that points to a particular improper action in the story.  Write your answer:  2. Rhetorical Question State a general truth, and then ask a rhetorical question in the form of "If then" that points out an impropriety in the character in the story.  Write your answer:  Write your answer:  3. Statement  Paraphrase "2 in an "If then" statement, but reverse the order and begin with "then."
This paragraph shows how a person in the story lacks moral integrity or honor.  A week passed, and the flies brought no money, so Giufà went to the judge and said to him, "Sir, I want justice. I sold the flies meat on credit, and they have not come to pay me."  The judge said, "I pronounce this sentence on them: Wherever you see them, you may kill them."  1. Rhetorical Question In the form of "Why" ask a rhetorical question that points to a particular improper action in the story.  Write your answer:  2. Rhetorical Question State a general truth, and then ask a rhetorical question in the form of "If then" that points out an impropriety in the character in the story.  Write your answer:  Write your answer:  3. Statement  Paraphrase "2 in an "If then" statement, but reverse the order and begin with "then."
A week passed, and the flies brought no money, so Giufà went to the judge and said to him, "Sir, I want justice. I sold the flies meat on credit, and they have not come to pay me."  The judge said, "I pronounce this sentence on them: Wherever you see them, you may kill them."  1. Rhetorical Question In the form of "Why" ask a rhetorical question that points to a particular improper action in the story.  Write your answer:  2. Rhetorical Question State a general truth, and then ask a rhetorical question in the form of "If then" that points out an impropriety in the character in the story.  Write your answer:  3. Statement  Paraphrase *2 in an "If then" statement, but reverse the order and begin with "then."	7. Impropriety
"Sir, I want justice. I sold the flies meat on credit, and they have not come to pay me."  The judge said, "I pronounce this sentence on them: Wherever you see them, you may kill them."  1. Rhetorical Question  In the form of "Why" ask a rhetorical question that points to a particular improper action in the story.  Write your answer:  2. Rhetorical Question  State a general truth, and then ask a rhetorical question in the form of "If then" that points out an impropriety in the character in the story.  Write your answer:  Write your answer:  3. Statement  Paraphrase "2 in an "If then" statement, but reverse the order and begin with "then."	This paragraph shows how a person in the story lacks moral integrity or honor.
In the form of "Why" ask a rhetorical question that points to a particular improper action in the story.  Write your answer:  2. Rhetorical Question State a general truth, and then ask a rhetorical question in the form of "If then" that points out an impropriety in the character in the story.  Write your answer:  Write your answer:  Paraphrase #2 in an "If then" statement, but reverse the order and begin with "then."	"Sir, I want justice. I sold the flies meat on credit, and they have not come to pay me."
2. Rhetorical Question State a general truth, and then ask a rhetorical question in the form of "If then" that points out an impropriety in the character in the story.  Write your answer:  3. Statement Paraphrase *2 in an "If then" statement, but reverse the order and begin with "then."	Rhetorical Question
2. Rhetorical Question State a general truth, and then ask a rhetorical question in the form of "If then" that points out an impropriety in the character in the story.  Write your answer:  3. Statement Paraphrase #2 in an "If then" statement, but reverse the order and begin with "then."	In the form of "Why" ask a rhetorical question that points to a particular improper action in the story.
State a general truth, and then ask a rhetorical question in the form of "If then" that points out an impropriety in the character in the story.  Write your answer:  3. Statement  Paraphrase #2 in an "If then" statement, but reverse the order and begin with "then."	Write your answer:
State a general truth, and then ask a rhetorical question in the form of "If then" that points out an impropriety in the character in the story.  Write your answer:  3. Statement  Paraphrase #2 in an "If then" statement, but reverse the order and begin with "then."
3. Statement Paraphrase #2 in an "If then" statement, but reverse the order and begin with "then."	2. Rhetorical Question State a general truth, and then ask a rhetorical question in the form of "If then" that points out an impropriety in the character in the story.
Paraphrase #2 in an "If then" statement, but reverse the order and begin with "then."	Write your answer:
Paraphrase #2 in an "If then" statement, but reverse the order and begin with "then."
	3. Statement
Write your answer:	Paraphrase #2 in an "If then" statement, but reverse the order and begin with "then."
	Write your answer:

Rough Draft
Combine the sentences. Add aequipollentia.
8. Inexpediency
This paragraph shows how a person's action in the story was not helpful or useful.
Just then a fly lighted on the judge's nose, and Giufà dealt it such a blow that he broke the judge's head.
Rhetorical Question
In the form of "Why" ask a rhetorical question that points to a particular inexpedient action in the story.
Write your answer:
2. Statement
State a general truth that relates to #1.
Write your answer:
3. Rhetorical Question
In the form of "How then" ask a rhetorical question that expands on the question in #1.
Write your answer:
With your answer.

4. Exclamation
Express disbelief that someone would act so inexpediently.
Write your answer:
5. Dilemma
In the form of an either/or sentence, state a dilemma based on your previous points.
Write your answer:
Rough Draft
Combine the sentences. Add enallage.
9. Epilogue
This paragraph concludes the essay.
Epilogue
Conclude briefly by restating the discredit and challenging the audience.
Write your answer:

Final Draft

Proofread the rough drafts above, and correct errors in grammar, spelling, and punctuation. On a separate sheet of paper, combine the corrected rough drafts into the form of a final draft.