In Canaan, a long time ago,
Isaac blessed Jacob and said,
“My son, it is time you must leave.
Find a good woman to wed.”

So Jacob went far from his home,
Hoping to start a new life,
To Haran to find Uncle Laban:
There he would choose a good wife.

Then Jacob made vows to the LORD,
Asking for God to abide.
He needed the LORD to keep watch,
Walking along by his side.

And giving him food when he craved,
Garments to wear as he trod.
Then bringing him safely back home,
Jacob would call the LORD "God!"

"This stone is the house of the LORD.
I know that nothing I'll lack.
A tenth of my blessings I'll give.
LORD, I will never hold back!"
