Introduction

Christian Liberty Press has developed the Discovering New Worlds Through Literature course, which we believe will be useful in introducing students to classic and new authors, as well as various genre in literature. Readers will learn about new places, new people, and new ideas. In addition, this course provides students with new realities through various genre—historical fiction, true stories, biographical accounts, American folktales, and poetry. The textbook also provides students with vocabulary definitions, comprehension questions, and additional activities.

This answer key for Discovering New Worlds Through Literature provides answers to the Comprehension Questions at the end of most of the reading selections in the text. This manual also supplies answers to a few of the extension activities found in the Student Exercises workbook; these activities are designed to allow students to take a deeper look at certain readings and to reflect on what they have learned. Toward the back of the textbook, literary terms are defined; draw your student's attention to these important features at the appropriate time throughout the course. Finally, we have created a set of tests to help parents and teachers further evaluate their students' understanding of the stories. Both the Student Exercises workbook and the tests may be purchased separately from Christian Liberty Press.

We are confident that students will find this course to be both enjoyable and informative. More importantly, we trust that it will help them to gain a better understanding of how literature affects our lives intellectually, emotionally, and spiritually.

May God bless you and your students in the use of Discovering New Worlds Through Literature.

Comprehension Questions, page 5

In the Beginning God

---

1. God called the light Day, and the darkness He called Night.
  2. God called the firmament Heaven.
  3. On the third day, God called the dry land Earth, and the gathering together of the waters He called Seas.
  4. On the fourth day, God made two great lights: the greater light to rule the day, and the lesser light to rule the night. He made the stars also.
  5. On the fifth day God created great sea creatures. He also created every winged bird.
  6. On the sixth day God created man in His own image.
  7. On the seventh day God ended His work that He had done, and He rested on the seventh day.
