PHOTOCOPYING AND DISTRIBUTION POLICY

The illustrations, reading lists, and all other content in this Activity Book are copyrighted material owned by Peace Hill Press. Please do not reproduce reading lists, etc. on e-mail lists or websites.

For families: You may make as many photocopies of the maps and other Student Pages as you need for use WITHIN YOUR OWN FAMILY ONLY. Peace Hill Press publishes a separate set of Student Pages—which includes all maps, games, flags, timelines, and other consumable pages from the Activity Book. (These cost $11.95 for Volume 2. ISBN 978-1-933339-16-0.) It is often more economical for you to buy these separate pages than to photocopy the entire consumable section of the Activity Book. If you would like to purchase these, visit our website, at peacehillpress.com. Photocopying the pages so that the Activity Book can then be resold is a violation of copyright.

Schools and co-ops MAY NOT PHOTOCOPY any portion of the Activity Book. Smaller schools usually find that purchasing a set of the pre-copied Student Pages for each student is the best option. Other schools may purchase a licensing fee ($100 per volume, per year) that allows unlimited school and co-op duplication. For more information, please contact Peace Hill Press: e-mail info@peacehillpress.com; phone 1.877.322.3445.
How to Use This Activity Book

History is the most absorbing and enthralling story you can tell a young child, because it’s true. A good history narrative is as strange and wondrous as a good fairy tale. Kings, queens, mummies, wooden horses, knights, and castles can be as fascinating as giants and elves—but they really existed!

In classical education, history lies at the center of the curriculum. The chronological study of history allows even small children to learn about the past in an orderly way; after all, the “best way to tell a story,” as the King tells Alice in Alice in Wonderland, “is to begin at the beginning and go on to the end.” When the study of literature is linked to history, children have an opportunity to hear the stories of each country as they learn more about that country’s past and its people. History teaches comprehension; young students learn to listen carefully, to pick out and remember the central facts in each story. History even becomes the training ground for beginning writers. When you ask a young student to narrate, to tell back to you the information he’s just heard in his own words, you are giving him invaluable practice in the first and most difficult step of writing: putting an idea into words.

This activity guide is designed to go along with Volume Two of Susan Wise Bauer’s The Story of the World: History for the Classical Child. Think of each section in The Story of the World as a “springboard” into the study of world history. This book provides you with a simple, chronological overview of the progression of history. It isn’t intended to be complete, but when you do history with young students, you’re not aiming for a “complete” grasp of what happened in the Middle Ages. Instead, you want to give the child an enthusiasm for history, a basic understanding of major cultures, and an idea of the chronological order of historical events.

Using This Activity Book at Home

The Activity Book has two sections: a parents’ guide in the front, and consumable Student Pages in the back. (Note the page numbers at the bottom of each page to see what section you’re in.) For each section in The Story of the World, follow this pattern:

1) Read the child one section from The Story of the World. Longer chapters are divided into several sections; each section is appropriate for one session of history. Good readers can read the section to you instead.

2) Review Questions: These test the student’s comprehension. When he has thoroughly studied the chapter, he should answer these questions orally without looking at the book. Encourage him to answer in complete sentences when possible. This is training in reading comprehension (and it will help you evaluate whether the child is listening with attention and whether he’s really understanding what he’s reading). Answers given are approximate; accept any reasonable answer. You can also make up your own questions.

3) Narration Exercise: Have the child tell you in two to five sentences what the history lesson was about. You can prompt the child with the Review Questions. Encourage the child to include the major facts from the history reading, but not EVERY fact. We have supplied sample narrations simply to give some idea of acceptable answers, not to imply that your child’s narration should match word for word!

Write down the child’s narration if the child is not writing independently. Good writers can be asked to write the narration down themselves. To help with this process, listen carefully to the child’s narration and repeat it back to her while she writes; this will help with “writer’s block.” For any given section, you can instead ask the child to draw a picture of her favorite part of the history lesson and then describe the picture to you. Write the description at the bottom of the picture. Put the narration or the picture in a History Notebook—a looseleaf notebook that will serve as the child’s record of her history study.

4) When you have finished both sections of a chapter, stop and do additional reading and activities on the topic covered by that chapter. This Activity Book provides titles of books that you can find at your library for additional history reading, as well as maps, hands-on activities, and other projects. Some topics have many more resources available than others. Ask your local librarian for further suggestions.
When you reach a topic that has a wealth of interesting books and activities connected to it, stop and enjoy yourself; don't feel undue pressure to move on. Check your local library for titles before buying. The recommended titles range in difficulty from books for reading aloud to first graders to advanced books appropriate for fourth graders to read independently. When appropriate, ask the child to draw pictures, to narrate, or to complete brief outlines about the additional reading as well. Put these pictures and narrations into a three-ring History Notebook. This should begin to resemble the child's own one-volume history of the world. Don't ask the child to narrate every book or she'll grow frustrated; use this as occasional reinforcement for a topic she finds particularly interesting.

Because students from a wide range of grades will be using this Activity Book, we have tried to provide a range of activities, appropriate for different levels. Some are more appropriate for younger students; others will require more in-depth thought. We encourage you to select the projects that are most appropriate for you and your students.

5) Maps: Almost every section in Volume One of The Story of the World has an accompanying map activity. A blank map is in the Student Pages; an answer key showing the correct, completed maps begins on page 254.

6) We have provided encyclopedia cross-references to the appropriate pages in The Kingfisher Illustrated History of the World, The Kingfisher History Encyclopedia (revised), The Usborne Book of World History, and The Usborne Internet-Linked Encyclopedia of World History. Use these books for additional supplemental reading, especially for those topics that don't have extensive lists of age-appropriate library books.

7) Choose appropriate titles from the recommended literature lists and read these with your child. Classical philosophy discourages the use of "reading textbooks" which contain little snippets of a number of different works. These textbooks tend to turn reading into a chore—an assignment that has to be finished—rather than a wonderful way to learn more about the world. Instead of following a "reading program," consider using the "real books" from these literature lists. Following each title is a range of grades showing the appropriate reading level (RA=read aloud, IR=independent read).

8) Every four chapters, you should take one history class to prepare your history review cards. Photocopy the history cards (use stiff cardstock for longer-lasting cards) and cut them out; have the student color the picture. After the cards are completed, use them once or twice a week to review material already covered.

9) Optional: You can administer written tests (available separately from Peace Hill Press) if you desire a more formal evaluation or wish to develop your child's test-taking ability.

Multilevel Teaching

The Story of the World series is intended for children in grades 1–4, but is often used by older students: Volume One is written primarily for grades 1–4; Volume Two for grades 2–5; Volume Three for grades 3–6; Volume Four for grades 4–8. The maps and many of the activities in this book are also appropriate for children in grades 4–8. To use The Story of the World as the center of a multilevel history program, have your older child independently do the following: Read The Story of the World; follow this with the appropriate pages from the Kingfisher History Encyclopedia; place all important dates on a timeline; and do additional reading on his or her own level. For more book lists and detailed directions on classical education methods for both elementary and middle-grade students, see The Well-Trained Mind: A Guide to Classical Education at Home, by Jessie Wise and Susan Wise Bauer (revised edition, W.W. Norton, 2004), available from Peace Hill Press (www.peacehillpress.com) or anywhere books are sold.

An Important Note for Parents

Families differ in their attitudes towards teaching myths, in their willingness to view partially clothed people in ancient art, and in their sensitivity towards the (inevitable) violence of ancient times. We suggest that you skim through the activities in this book, glance through the literature that we recommend, and skip anything that might be inappropriate for your own family. In addition, both the Kingfisher History Encyclopedia and the Usborne Internet-Linked Encyclopedia of World History contain a number of pages on prehistoric peoples that may not agree with your family's convictions about humankind's beginnings. If this might pose a problem for you, preview these books before purchasing or using them.
Using This Book in the Classroom

Although this Activity Book was initially designed to be used by homeschooling families, it adapts well to the classroom. Following are suggestions on how each chapter may be taught:

1) The teacher reads aloud a chapter section while the students follow along in their own books. When you reach the end of a section, ask the review questions provided in this book to selected students. Depending upon the length of a chapter, you may read the entire chapter in one day or break it up over two days.

2) Using the review questions and chapter tests as a guide, type up a list of facts that the students should memorize, perhaps employing a fill-in-the-blank format. Give one to each student to help her prepare for the upcoming test. If you would like to administer formal tests, you can purchase them separately from Peace Hill Press.

3) Have the students do the map exercises.

4) Select one or two activities. Some are more appropriate for classroom use than others.

5) Each day there should be an oral or written review. You can make it fun by playing oral quizzing games such as “Around the World,” “Last One Standing,” or “Jeopardy!”

6) On the last day before the test, have the students color their chapter review cards.

7) Test the students.

8) Periodically review past lessons so your students will remember history chronologically.

THE VIKING INVASION

Review Questions

What happened to the old Roman Empire? Barbarians attacked it.
What do we call the “barbarians” who attacked the Franks? They were called “North-men,” or Norsemen.
What peninsula did the Norsemen come from? They came from Scandinavia.
Do you remember the three kingdoms of Scandinavia? The Scandinavian kingdoms are Norway, Denmark, and Sweden.
What other name were the Norsemen known by? They were also called “Vikings.”
What is the advantage in having a flat-bottomed boat? The boat can float in shallow water. You can row it right up to the sand on the beach!
Why was it easier for the Vikings to invade the Franks after Charlemagne died? The kingdom was divided among Charlemagne’s three grandsons and was no longer strong and united.
What did the Franks do to stop the Vikings from invading the western part of France? The Franks gave the Vikings a piece of the land called Normandy.
Once the Vikings had been in Normandy for a while, how did they start to speak and act? They started to act just like the Franks!
What had the Vikings become? They had become Normans.

Narration Exercise

“The Vikings came from the north and invaded the Frankish empire. They sailed right up onto the beaches in their flat-bottomed boats. Eventually the Franks gave the Vikings some Frankish land. This land was called Normandy, and the Vikings were called Normans.” OR

“After Charlemagne died, the kingdom of the Franks was divided and could not fight off the Vikings. The Vikings invaded France so often in their longships that they were eventually given some of the land. After living there for awhile, they started to act just like the Franks!”

ERIC THE RED AND “ERIC’S SON”

Review Questions

Why did Eric the Red have to leave Iceland? He killed two neighbors in a fight.
What name did Eric the Red give to the land that he discovered so that other Viking settlers would come there? Greenland.
What was Greenland really like? Greenland was cold, dark, icy, treeless, and full of mountains.
How did the Viking settlers in Greenland get enough grain to live? They traded sealskins, polar bear furs, tusks, and other items to visitors.

Did they have enough to eat? No; they had so little food that they did not grow very tall!

Why did Eric the Red’s son, Leif Ericsson, decide to go exploring? He wanted to find the land that Bjarni saw from a distance but never explored.

What fruit did Leif Ericsson find in the new land that he discovered? He found grapes.

What did he name the new land? He named it Vineland.

What made the new settlers of Vineland give up their settlements? The Native Americans (or Skraelings) of the land defended their territory and fought the Vikings.

What land had Leif Ericsson discovered? He had discovered North America.

Narration Exercise

“The Vikings were great explorers. Eric the Red sailed to cold, icy Greenland. His son, Leif Ericsson, sailed to North America. He called it Vineland and tried to settle there, but the settlers were chased away by the Native Americans.” OR

“The Viking explorer Eric the Red tried to get settlers to come to the cold, icy land that he had discovered by calling it Greenland. His son, Leif Ericsson, was also a famous explorer. He sailed to North America long before Columbus! He named the new land Vineland because it was full of grapes.”

The Norse Gods

Review Questions

Where did the Vikings believe that the gods lived? The gods lived in Asgard, above the sky.

How was Asgard connected with the earth? Asgard was connected to earth by a rainbow bridge.

What is one way a Viking could get into Valhalla, the feasting hall of the gods? A Viking who died in battle would be taken to Valhalla by a Valkyrie.

Who was Thor? Thor was the thunder-god.

Why did Thor want to go to Skymer’s home? Thor wanted to steal Skymer’s giant kettle of mead.

What became of the goat bones and skins that were eaten the night before? Thor turned them back into live goats.

Why did one of the goats limp? The goat limped because the son of the house cracked one of its bones open.

What did the five caves turn out to be? The caves were the fingers of the giant Skymer’s lost glove.

When Thor was drinking from Skymer’s horn of mead, what was he really doing? He was drinking from the sea.

When Thor wrestled with the cat, what was he really wrestling with? He was wrestling with the world serpent, the Midgar Serpent.

Why couldn’t Thor conquer the old woman? She was Old Age. Not even the strongest man can beat age.

Narration Exercise

“The Vikings believed in many gods. The thunder god Thor tried to steal a giant’s mead kettle. Thor thought he was drinking from a horn, wrestling with a cat, and fighting an old lady, but he was really drinking from the sea, lifting up the world serpent, and fighting against Old Age.” OR
“The Vikings believed that their gods and goddesses lived in Asgard. A warrior could get into Valhalla by dying in battle. The Norse god Thor set off on a journey to steal mead from the giant Skymer. Skymer tricked Thor by asking him to do nearly impossible things. Thor was angry when he couldn’t defeat Skymer’s old nanny, but he was really wrestling against Old Age.”

Additional History Reading

The Grandchildren of the Vikings, by Matti A. Pitkanen and Reijo Harkonen (Carolrhoda Books, 1995). This lavishly photographed book shows modern-day children of Scandinavia and traces their connection with the Vikings of old. (RA 1–4, IR 5)

The Vikings (Treasure Chests), by Fiona MacDonald (Running Press, 1997). Activities includes: sun dial compass, Viking board game, Viking boat, and map with stickers. Plus, there are other stickers, a mini poster of Viking ships, a Viking Mythology tree, and a little booklet about the Vikings. Small children will need help with most of these projects. (RA 2–3, IR 4–5 and activities)

Who Were the Vikings? (Starting Point History Series), by Jane Chisholm (EDC Publications, 2002). A simple Internet-linked guide to Viking history, with easy-to-read text. (RA 1, IR 2–4)

Corresponding Literature Suggestions

Beorn the Proud, by Madeleine Polland, illus. Joan Coppa Drennen (Bethlehem Books, 1999). This chapter book tells about the friendship between a Viking boy and an Irish farm girl kidnapped by Viking invaders; a good independent read for strong readers or family read-aloud for younger students. (RA 1–3, IR 4–5)

East O’ the Sun and West O’ the Moon and Other Norwegian Fairy Tales, by George Webbe Dasent (Dover, 2001). Includes ten short stories from Norway. (RA 1–3, IR 4–5)

Magic Tree House #15, Viking Ships at Sunrise, by Mary Pope Osborne (Random House, 1998). Travel back in time, visit a monastery in medieval Ireland and meet some Vikings! (RA 1–2, IR 3–5)

Odin’s Family: Myths of the Vikings, retold by Neil Philip, illus. Maryclare Foa (Orchard Books, 1996). These short, large-print retellings are good for younger readers and cover all of the major themes in Norse mythology. (RA 2, IR 3–5)

Viking Lands (Student Page 54, answer 257)

1. The Vikings of Scandinavia invaded the kingdom of the Franks. Let’s trace the path of the Viking longships in green. Start at the dot in Scandinavia (the dot between Norway and Sweden) and draw down through the waters until you get to the dot in the Frankish Kingdom.

2. Eventually the Vikings were given some of the Frankish land. This land was called Normandy. In orange, trace the path the Viking settlers took from Scandinavia to Normandy.

3. Some Vikings sailed across the Atlantic Ocean to Iceland. Trace the path from Scandinavia to Iceland in blue.

4. The Viking explorer Eric the Red sailed west from Iceland hoping to find a new home. He found Greenland. Trace the path of his journey from Iceland to Greenland in red (for Eric the Red).
5. Eric’s son, Leif Ericsson, went exploring like his father. He found a new land that he named “Vineland.” Today we call that new land Newfoundland. In purple, trace Leif’s journey from Greenland to Newfoundland.

PROJECTS

ACTIVITY PROJECT A Viking Funeral

Viking chieftains had elaborate funerals. The chieftain was dressed in his best clothes and laid on a Viking longship with all his weapons and precious possessions. Then the longship was set on fire and pushed onto the water to burn.

Hold your own Viking funeral. Put an action figure or doll in a toy boat. You can dress your chieftain in fine clothes and add weapons, jewelry, and coins to the boat if you wish. Then float the toy boat in your bathtub!

CRAFT PROJECT Make a Viking Boat

Materials:
- Both templates for boat copied on cardstock (Student Pages 56 and 57)
- 6” square piece of paper for sail
- Colored pencils or crayons
- Scissors
- Glue or tape
- Drinking straw for mast
- Small amount of air-drying, blue foam clay for stand (optional)

Directions:
1. Color and cut out all the pieces of the Viking boat.
2. On both ends of the hull, cut on dotted lines then fold tabs to inside and glue A to B and C to D.
3. Fold the dragon’s head and tail down the middle and cut out where indicated, then unfold and glue to hull where indicated. Match up the 2 sides of the head and glue together. Repeat for tail.
4. Glue the shields to the sides of the hull.
5. Cut a small slit in top of hull between shields and insert oars in slits.
7. Make a stand that looks like ocean waves from the clay.

CRAFT PROJECT Make a Viking Brooch or Thor’s Hammer Pendant

Materials:
- Photocopy of templates (Student Page 58)
- Hole punch
- Colored pencils, water color pencils or markers
- Sandpaper
- Deli plastic containers, #6 recyclable
- (Or use “Print & Shrink” oven-bake crafts sheets found at department or office supply stores.)
Directions: 1. Cut up a deli plastic container, freeing the useable top and bottom. Sand one side of the plastic until it is cloudy and you can feel the roughness on every part of it (delete this step if using the “Print & Shrink” craft sheets). This is so the color will stick. Or if using Print & Shrink sheets and you have a scanner, scan templates and print on the sheets. Color as directed in step 2.

2. Lay the plastic on top of the template pattern. Trace the pattern on the plastic, making sure you are working on the scratched side. Then color the pattern. For the most vivid color use watercolor pencils that are moist.

3. Decide where you want to punch your hole if you are making a pendant and use the hole punch to create the hole.

4. Once you are finished, cut the template out and place on a cookie sheet. Bake at 250 degrees for about 10 to 15 minutes. Check often. (Burning plastic is not good for you to breathe!) Take out when the items are lying flat and are thicker. Your item will shrink and the colors will intensify.

5. Use the cording to hang the pendant around your neck. Glue a safety pin on back of the brooch.

Thor’s hammer was drawn from one found at Romersdal on Bornholm Island in Denmark. It dates back to about 1000 A.D. Thor was the god of rain and thunder and protector of the Viking farmer in Norse mythology. The hammer was Thor’s symbol.

The Viking ship brooch was found in a grave at Lilevang, Bornholm, Denmark. A Viking woman often wore two brooches or buckles, one on each shoulder to fasten her clothing.

Craft Project
Make a Viking Long House

Materials:  □ Card stock  □ Ruler
□ Scissors     □ Pencil
□ Glue or tape

Directions for base:

1. Measure 2½” around edges of card stock and draw lines on each side. Fold on each line. Cut on dotted lines as shown in picture.

2. Fold all tabs marked A to the inside and glue or tape to pieces marked B (see picture).

Directions for roof:

1. Trim 1½” off long edge of one side of card stock. Measure 2½” on each short end, mark it, and fold the paper to the inside along each mark.

2. With those ends folded in you will have a 6” by 7” piece. Bring both 6” ends together and fold like a taco.

3. Cut on dotted lines as shown in picture. On each end fold one end flap on top of the other and glue or tape. Trim end pieces even with edges of roof. This will form the triangular shape on the ends of the roof.
Decorate your long house:

During Viking times, there weren’t any local hardware stores, so Vikings had to use whatever materials were available to make their homes. If they lived near a wooded area, they built log or plank homes. In areas where no lumber was available, they built homes from sod. At times Vikings used rocks around the foundation of their homes. Their roofs were usually made from thatch, but some Vikings used sod for their roofs and then planted grass, which grew right on the roof! Look around the area where you live and make a list of the materials you would use if you were building a Viking home.

Suggested materials:
- Dry twigs (for a log house)
- Craft sticks or toothpicks (for a plank house)
- Pebbles (if you want a rock foundation)
- Cut grass, straw or shredded wheat for the roof
- Glue
- Mud (if you want a sod house)
- Grass seeds (for sod house roof)

Directions for log or plank house:
1. If you are using pebbles for a rock foundation, glue those around the base of your house first.
2. For a log house, break twigs to fit and glue in place. For a plank house glue craft sticks or toothpicks in place.
3. Crumble shredded wheat and glue on roof or use grass or straw. Use spray-on glue after the material is in place.

Directions for a sod house:
1. Spread mud on your house and over roof.
2. Sprinkle grass seeds on roof.
3. Gently mist every day. (Don’t get the house too wet or it will buckle.)

COOKING PROJECT

Make Viking Bread

The Vikings made bread out of barley, oats and rye. Since they ground their own flour by hand, the bread had a gritty texture.

Ingredients:
- 3 cups whole wheat flour (can also use part oat, barley or rye flour)
- 2 cups white flour
- 1 teaspoon baking soda
- 2 cups warm water
- 1 teaspoon sea salt
- 1 cup oats

Directions:
1. In a large bowl, mix flour, baking soda, and salt.
2. Add and stir in ¾ cup of oats (save ¼ cup for later).
3. Slowly add the 2 cups of warm water. Stir well. The mixture will become difficult to stir.
4. Knead the mixture until the mixture becomes stiff.
5. Form into a circle and place on a greased cookie sheet.
6. Sprinkle the remaining oats on top.
7. Put the cookie sheet into a cold oven. Then turn the oven to 375 degrees. Bake bread for one hour.
8. Cool slightly and enjoy!
